Dear Mr. Brown,

In my current role as a home health aide, I am regularly commended for my comforting manner and care efficiency. At present, I am responsible for the care of 15 elderly patients who remain in the 98th percentile for lack of sores. With my dedication to patient well-being and seven years of home caregiving experience, I believe I would be an asset to the Tampa Hospital nursing team.

I am looking to begin a career in nursing as I feel it would allow me to expand my skills and provide care to a greater number of patients. I was initially drawn to the nursing role at Tampa Hospital because of the organization's focus on patient well-being. Despite being new to nursing, I believe I have many transferable skills and achievements, such as:

- Managing patient mobility to ensure all patients remain in the 98th percentile for lack of falls
- Handling a daily caseload of 15-20 patients
- A comforting bedside manner, which is regularly praised by patients and staff

I am very interested in scheduling an interview to discuss my transferable skills and how my experience can benefit your team.

Sincerely,

Sarah Davidson

P.S. I'd love to explain how I got 99% scores in all record-keeping spot checks for the past two years!
