

DAN HARRISON

4793 Beech Ave, San Francisco, CA, 357830
danharrison@email.com
202-555-0150

Full-stack developer with over 10 years of experience and a history of leading the development of quality e-commerce web applications and products. Expert in programming languages with a demonstrated ability to mentor junior developers. Researches and analyzes client needs thoroughly to deliver thoughtful and innovative solutions.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

FULL STACK DEVELOPER

Flux, San Francisco, CA | June 2015 - Present

- Lead and direct 10 team members to complete full life cycle design and implementation of products and applications
- Research and analyze the needs of over 100 clients to deliver modern e-commerce applications and product features
- Identified and debugged applications, web pages, and product features to increase speed and function, resulting in a 60% decrease in error tickets
- Developed a mentorship and training program for over 20 junior and entry-level engineers

FULL STACK DEVELOPER

PARADIGM, Los Angeles, CA | October 2009 - February 2015

- Developed and tested applications and product features using Python, Javascript, and CSS
- Performed testing and optimized products, resulting in improved performance and a client satisfaction of 96%
- Identified and resolved web, application, and product errors reported by clients and made improvements to reduce error tickets by 40% monthly
- Designed and implemented new product features and web architecture for over 80 clients

KEY SKILLS

- Back and front end programming languages, including Java, HTML, Python, and CSS
- Expert knowledge in technology stacks such as LAMPP/XAMPP
- Project management
- Database and web storage
- Advanced web architecture and design skills
- Excellent communication

EDUCATION

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMPUTER SCIENCE

University of California, Los Angeles, CA
September 2005 - June 2009

- Completed duties as a teaching and research assistant for the computer science department.